1.2.133

a Lesson in the University of The New Covenant

Theodore Cottingham, September 21, 2004 Tape 44_5

www.unc.bz

1. I come. I come and I call and I come to the common. I come to the common now. I come to the common and I come unto those who cry after Me. I come to those who will receive Me, those common, those with no glass, no brass, no marble, no slate. I come to the common who have been held back, depressed, repressed, oblivious to My splendor, oblivious to My majesty, oblivious to My presence which I call them to which has inherent all of My beauty and My splendor and everything they so desire. Resplendent, resplendent majesty. I love you and I thank you for sharing My words. Sharing My words about My beauty, sharing My words about My majesty and My craftsmanship of only Me.
2. My beauty, if only they can see My beauty. If only they can see how I crafted them in beauty. If only they would be resplendent in Me, replete be they would so completely for I forfeited nothing when I made every one, every single one, every single person, every single embryo comes through Me. I am. I love you. And I give you Me. I give you life and I gave you life every reader/hearer, you instruments of Me, hearts, valves, pipers of My tunes. I love you.
3. I come now and I come to the common, I come to the common, I come to those who toil, those who sweat and those who have in sweat shops been, to make replete in Me; sitting them at My table. Come and see Me. Watch Me and enjoy Me. I love you.
4. I come now to the common and I come to those who cry after Me. I come to the wealthy-thought. I come to those who know Me and know Me not. I increase, I advance and I culminate not for I come and I become evermore resplendent in My Mine who seek Me. I love you.
5. The West Indies I come to, watch Me. The west, the north, the south, shall anyone forfeit the move of My hand? The East, so mighty. The north, the south exchanging positions and rotating in axis of only Me. I love you.
6. Primary be, secondary none. I love you.
7. Hear Me, see Me, feel Me, become Me. Primary yes, secondary no. Absolute yes. Relativistic none. I love you.
8. I give you so much of Me. Map Me and map makers make. I love you.
9. I give you Me. Now come unto Me and let Me give you My burden, My burdens, My burden for My people, for My lands, and cry with Me for My people. Cry with Me and intercede with Me. Cry not for Me but with Me. Cry with Me and intercede for My people, for My lands, for My nations, for My multitudinous many, My mighty many who come forth now in fire, thanksgiving, baptized in only Me. I love you.

10. I come to the mighty and I come to the introverted and the perverted not. But mighty in Me do I make the strong and the stronger become stronger and I give more of Me to the meek and lowly, of every despised.

11. I come to the mighty and prowess'd and those who meekness themselves before Me I will endeavor, I will envision, I will encapture, I will enrapture, replete them in Me. I love you. My droplets, My forcefulness, My love, My joy, My who love Me come forth in such might and power, the likes of leadership never seen: every tribe, every nation, every tongue. Watch Me. The beauty of My body now arises for all to see. I love you. Resplendent be in Me, knowing all you want, all you have and everything you can possibly desire is provisioned in Me. Thank you. I love you.